The Corn Root Worm.
The corn root worms are undoubtedly the most serious insect pest with which corn growers have to contend.

The presence of root worms in a field is generally indicated by the withering of the young plants, the failure to produce well developed ears, or a general retarding of the growth without any visible cause.

The root worms are small slender, white and about 1/2 inch long when they are full grown. Infested stalks of corn may be pulled out easily and will break off at the place where the worm is at work, leaving the greater part of the root in the soil.

A continuous cropping of corn on the same ground will soon increase the number of root worms to an alarming extent and consequently decrease the yield.

Rotation of crops is the most effectual preventive of root worms. The beetle of the root worms usually deposit their eggs in the old infested fields. By changing the corn from such a field to another which was not in corn the preceding year, these eggs are left behind.—R. L. Webster in Bluegrass Farmer.

And Roosevelt tomorrow;
But Wilson or Harmon
Will soon bring 'em sorrow.
—Hazel Green Herald.

For nearly three hours Friday the Senate wrangled over whether it should increase the pension of Capt. Henry G. Trimble, of Somerset, Ky., from $55 to $65. At the end of that time after Senators McCumber, Gallinger, Broch and others had insisted that to increase the pension would be to open the floodgates for similar increases Senator Bradley, who was leading the fight, triumphed by a vote of 19 to 17. Capitol statisticians estimated that the time the Senate wasted on the bill cost the Government $1,000.—Courier Journal.

Representative Ollie M. James has denied the press reports that he openly espoused the candidacy of Gov. Wilson at a banquet given at Lincoln, Neb. in honor of Col. W. J. Bryan's birthday.

If all the "COURIER family" would do likewise our "Fifteen hundred subscribers in Morgan for 1912" would soon be realized. Many thanks, Luther.

Official reports fix the list of deaths in the coal mine disaster at McCurtain, Okla. at seventy, of which number sixty four of the bodies have been recovered.

Agricultural Tour Through Kentucky.

An Agricultural train made up of seven coaches and a flat car left the Union station, Lexington, Monday for a tour of 70 Kentucky counties. The party was headed by Commissioner of Agriculture, J. W. Newman, and composed of lecturers and speakers of national reputation. The train with its equipment is a veritable agricultural college and experiment station on wheels, and if the farmers of the section through which it will pass are alive to their interests they will turn out in a body to hear the lectures and see the demonstrations which the State is providing free of cost to them.

Poultry Hints.

March is said to be the month for roup. Keep the birds warm and dry. The axe is the best cure for diphtheritic roup. Burn the body. Three dirty eggs in a dozen will often knock 2 cts off the price. It pays to clean and sort hen fruit as it does any other kind of fruit.

Notice the combs of your heavy-layers turning pale and appetites failing? "Anemia" or lack of blood. Change feed and provide good ventilation and outdoor exercise or you will lose them.

There are some men in our town,

Their names are not Alexander;

Their heads don't weigh four thousand pounds, But their noses stick way out "yander."

—Into other people's business.

Some people can't understand why every body else don't see things just like they do.

We heartily favor "trust busting," in all forms, but think the present time very inappropriate to go to monkeying with the base-bull trust.

Visions of the rapidly growing Eye-glasses and Teeth have caused the Taff managers to take a leaf from Campbell Cantrill's book and call the county convention for April 6.

At last poor, down-trodden man has asserted his rights! The milliners are complaining that hubbly goes with his wife to prevent his buying "freak" hats.

Why is it that some people who never seem to turn their hands to anything akin to work wear better clothes, appear better fed and better groomed than we poor devils who scarcely ever know an hour's rest?

There is no man whose spark of patriotism is entirely extinct but there are some who have doped their moral natures with an admixture of gall and vitriol to the extent that the little flame cannot be felt nor seen.

As far as can be ascertained by those on the outside, the prospect for a railroad for West Liberty is very flattering. Certainly the coal and minerals in the Licking Valley are sufficient in quantity to induce the building of a road, and with a survey made and the work of securing the right of way begun it looks as if we might reasonably hope for the work of construction to begin soon.

The Hazel Green Herald finished its 27th year last week. During all that time it has been published by its founder, Spencer Cooper, the nestor of Eastern Kentucky journalism. In a small town with neagre advertising patronage it has had to depend upon its merit as a newspaper and has made good. The Herald is a model country newspaper and deserves a more liberal and more substantial patronage than it has ever received. Spencer, here's hoping that you may make the Herald the same breezy, interesting newspaper for 27 years to come.

The man or woman who needlessly or causelessly wounds the feelings of another is lacking in the elements that go to make up a real gentleman or lady. It is the ideal gentleman or lady who can refuse a favor with kindness. Our acts, like chickens, come home to roost, and many a man has turned down the request for a favor with harshness and in after years had that act to recoil on him. Considering now little effort it requires to be pleasant, there is a whole lot of needless pain caused by unkindness.

Sam Reed, after having been fined $60 and 10 days in jail in the Morgan Circuit Court for selling whisky, paid his fine and walked out saying that he would die before he would go to jail. He has several other cases pending against him. This is the kind of men Judge Hannah always brings to justice.—Kentucky Mountaineer.

The editor of the Mountaineer or his informant is at fault in this instance. Sam Reed was fined $60.00 but there was no jail sentence. He paid the fine and cost and walked out of the court house which he had a perfect right to do.

Is it possible that the people of Morgan county are going to let the boy's corn club lie a "bormin"? Let us hope not. Other counties are forming large clubs. Clark county has over one hundred entries already. Magoffin and Rowan counties are organizing clubs. Will Morgan lurk in the rear? We would suggest to the local Farmer's Unions throughout the county that they each secure as many contestants as possible among the boys in their localities and set a day, meet in West Liberty and perfect an organization. The people will then begin to take notice of what the Unions are doing and their powers for good will be increased many fold.

Boost the corn club.

Aurthur Brisbane, editor of the New York Journal, and unquestionably the ablest writer in the United States, is publishing a series of editorials setting forth the superior advantage that space in the county newspaper afford advertisers. It seems that every one save the publishers of the country papers realize this fact. The Courier suggests that the officers of the Mountain Press Association take cognizance of this fact and try to have a full attendance of the mountain publishers at the mid-Summer meeting. No greater value will be placed upon the worth of the country paper than the publishers themselves place upon them. Let's stiffen up our back bone and demand fair rates for our space, and get together and hold out for a just compensation for our labor.

There are two good and sufficient reasons why Champ Clark, of Missouri, ought to have the instruction from Kentucky to the National Convention at Baltimore. The first and most important reason is his eminent qualification to fill the office of chief magistrate of the United States. No other man before the public today, in either party, possesses the qualities of leadership that seem to be inherent in Speaker Clark. In him progressiveness and conservatism are so happily blended that his nomination would be alike acceptable to both factions of the Democratic party and would draw thousands of votes from the satisfied ranks of the Republican party.

The second reason why we should receive the loyal support of all Kentuckians is that he is an Ex-Kentuckian himself. State pride ought, all else being equal, to actuate a son of Kentucky when he goes to cast his vote. Some one might make the point that we have two Ex-Kentuckians in the race for the presidential nomination. That is true—Underwood, has shied his hat into the ring and has followed it in but Champ has the call. Kentuckians can honor themselves by honoring Clark.

GUMPTION
Common Sense without Pills.
By L. T. HOFFERMALE.

Congressman Hobson, known to fame as the man who sank the Merrimac in Santiago harbor, and afterwards kissed about half the female population in the United States (I would like the latter task if allowed to begin in West Liberty), has introduced a resolution in Congress to amend the Constitution of the United States so as to prohibit the manufacture or importation of intoxicants in this nation.

Just what Hobson meant by introducing a resolution to amend the Constitution instead of a plain, ordinary bill to prohibit the manufacture and importation I do not know, but his record, both as a temperance advocate and an artistic kisser, is sufficient to cause me to believe that he has studied his ground well and has taken the proper method.

Now it is up to the people. Our representatives will not be for this resolution unless the anti-liquor people remind them that they insist upon the passage of the Hobson resolution.

The liquor trust is doubtless now at work bringing every pressure in their power to bear upon the national legislators to defeat it, and some of the arguments that it will be willing to put up may prove very seductive. If the Congressmen get the idea that the people are apathetic in the matter they will yield to the persuasions of the liquor trust. For your Congressmen have their ears to the ground and quickly sense the trend of popular opinion. It is seldom that they oppose big monied interests unless public sentiment is strong enough to endanger their re-election.

This is the first real, rational step that has been taken to wipe out the nation's greatest curse. It strikes at the root of the evil. Now it behooves the people—the Christian, the moral people—to get busy and stay busy. Keep the mails loaded with letters and petitions to Congressmen and Senators demanding that they support the Hobson resolution. Get your local newspaper to take the matter up. Don't go to sleep! The liquor trust never sleeps!

"It is not what we have been, but what we are, that counts," was said to me on a memorable occasion about one year ago. That sentence will bear the closest scrutiny. It is full of the most profound philosophy. If the world would realize the depth of meaning in those few words, how different would be the lives of many.

A young man has led a fast and dissipated life, but being innately a gentleman has honestly reformed. His life may be as clean and honorable now as that of him who was never tempted, and yet the world will not measure him by what he is, but by what he has been.

A girl may have strayed from the path of rectitude and repented in sack-cloth and ashes; her life may be as pure as zephyrs stirred by angels' wings, and the world judges her by her past.

Is this just? Are we not worse sinners than either when we refuse to lend our aid and encouragement to their reformation? If the world only knew how many souls have been damned by the withholding of words of encouragement; been lost for the lack of an expression of confidence and faith in them, it would stand aghast at the figures. There are times in the lives of everyone, times when despair and discouragement are weighing down the soul and the person hesitates at the parting of the two ways, when a word will decide for them the course they will pursue.

I think Christ must have had this in mind when he said: "Judge not," etc.

Mr. Editor can you tell us why the records of our Fiscal Court are withheld from the press? Is it not a public record? I think that every taxpayer in Morgan county has the perfect right to know just how much money is paid into the county treasury each year and how this money is expended and the number of claims allowed at each term and the amount of each claim, and to whom the claim was allowed. Until recently it has been customary to make public the acts of our Fiscal Courts but they have failed to appear in print thus far. This being the case the people demand publicity of the Fiscal Court officers as well as individual should make a record that will bear criticism.

I want to compliment Gump-ton for currying the Agitator. Let a man be conscious that he's right and then take a bold stand regardless of what people think or say.

Don't Neglect A Childs Cough
The "Child's Welfare" movement has challenged the attention of thoughtful people everywhere. Mothers are natural supporters, and will find in Foley's Honey and Tar Compound a most valuable aid. Coughs and pneumonia yield quickly to the healings and soothing qualities of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Contains no opiates and to harmful drugs. Is a medicine. Not a narcotic. Refuse substitutes. All dealers.

Railroad talk has been rife up and down the Licking Valley for years, but from the outside indications it looks as tho' a railroad to West Liberty is practically assured. On Mar 12th the Licking Valley & Elk Fork R. R. Co., filed its articles of incorporation in the clerks office. The incorporators are Jacob Fulmer, Jas. A. Roper, Abner Graham, Mishawaka, Ind., Willard Hubbard, Indianapolis, Ind., Leonard Darrow, La Port, Ind., S. R. Collier, West Liberty and T. G. Stuart, Winchester. The road is to begin near Middland, Bath county and follow the Licking Valley to Swanton in Magoffin county, with a branch road up Elk Fork.
The survey has been made and the work of securing the right of way begun. It is claimed that work will begin at once on the construction of the road.

A Cold, Lagrippe, Then pneumonia
Is too often the fatal sequence, and coughs that hang on weaken the system and lower the vital resistance. R. G. Collins, Postmaster, Barnegat, N. P., was troubled with a severe cough. He says: "I would be completely exhausted after each fit of violent coughs. I bought a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Before I had taken it all the coughing spells entirely ceased. Foly's Honey and Tar Compound can't be beat." It stops the cough by healing the cause. Refuse substitutes. by all dealers.
